INTRODUCTION and INSTRUCTIONS

You have received this Catalogue as a blind/reading-impaired member of Christian Services for the Blind and Hearing Impaired. It includes denominational and general Christian audio books and resources for the benefit of its members only. The actual library content is available to all VAILS members.

The audio books are distributed by the Internet and mobile phone network directly to a dedicated 3G DAISY player (pictured), which is supplied by the Vision Australia (VAILS) organisation in Melbourne, Victoria. The VAILS library is comprised of some 40,000 secular books—audio and braille—and 400+ newspapers, magazines and podcasts.

As a VAILS library member you can access sites for online magazines and journals. For more information on Vision Australia's services call their helpline on 1300 84 74 66 or email info@visionaustralia.org.

If you have an Internet connection and are able to use it, go to the VAILS website https://i-accessonline.visionaustralia.org/ to search and download directly to your iPad or Android device or smartphone, using the VA Connect app. You can download the app from this page: https://www.visionaustralia.org/services/library/access

You can also download to your computer using DAISY software. For some options go to:

https://www.visionaustralia.org/information/adaptive-technology/using-technology/daisy-devices

If you don't have your own internet connection, your reading choices are automatically and directly sent to your supplied 3G DAISY player using the OPTUS mobile phone network, which you rent at your own expense.

It operates in the same manner as it did for CDs, with all buttons performing the same functions with one exception. The eject button is now the return a book button. However a user will need to learn to switch between stored books on the bookshelf, rather than swapping CDs.

A maximum of 20 books is allowed at any time, for up to two months. Unrenewed books are automatically deleted from your device after a set period, in accordance with copyright law. If you have supplied VAILS with preferences, you will receive books automatically, as you might the Sabbath School Lessons (referenced as Bible Studies by VAILS).

Notes:

- The Catalogue contains more than 600 books. It is impossible to present the complete content of each book. Only a synopsis is provided. It includes the length of the book in minutes.
- 2. The books have been classified as to their interest category, suitability for religions and age group. This is given as a guide only.
- 3. Most of the books are of a spiritual/devotional nature, and as such are nonfiction. However, a few are not, but because they are based on good morals, they make enjoyable reading.
- 4. New books are added each year, mostly read by Australian/NZ narrators. However, to give wider variety and access to new books, some are sourced from our affiliated service in the USA, the Christian Record Service (CRS), and are thus Americannarrated. CRS also provides a range of Braille resources, which is available to CSFBHI members at no cost.

- 5. Remember, you will be receiving copyrighted material for personal use, which by law you are not allowed to share. If you share or reproduce the books you may be excluded from the library. Both you and the VAILS library are bound by the rules of Australian copyright law.
- 6. This Catalogue is available online in PDF format on the CSFBHI website (under Resources), which is superficially searchable. Its audio content also forms part of the VAILS database for online searching, direct ordering and immediate download.

SUITABILITY CODES

A. Secular Material:

This material is carefully selected literature of a non-religious nature.

B. Interdenominational Material:
